Johns Hopkins Medicine • Department of Medicine •
Division of Rheumatology presents

Ninth Annual
Advances in the Diagnosis and Treatment of the Rheumatic Diseases

At The
Four Seasons Hotel
Baltimore, Maryland

April 26-27, 2013

Who Should Attend
This activity is intended for rheumatologists, internists, gerontologists, orthopedic surgeons, nurses and other allied health professionals.

Objectives
After attending this activity, the participant will demonstrate the ability to:

• Discuss treatment strategies in systemic lupus erythematosus.
• Review uses and techniques of imaging, MRI and ultrasound for rheumatic diseases.
• Discuss the use of biologic agents in the treatment of rheumatoid arthritis and current and emerging strategies.
• Discuss current treatment in the management of osteoarthritis.
• Identify major issues related to fibromyalgia.
• Appraise current management approaches and controversies in the diagnosis and treatment of spondyloarthropathies.
• Identify classification criteria for Sjögren’s Syndrome.
• Review current issues in the care of the pediatric patient with rheumatic disease.

Description
Now in its ninth year, this two-day symposium has been planned for the providers of care to patients with rheumatic diseases. Given the wide variety of rheumatologic disorders, and an ever-increasing number of diagnostic procedures and treatment options, it is necessary to provide clinicians with information about strategies for the early diagnosis of these conditions, novel state-of-the-art diagnostic tools, and opportunities to utilize the most effective treatments to ensure optimal patient outcomes.
